UNday project team 2014:

TEATER HALLAND

Grimeton Radio Station with the help of Halland's Regional Theatre, Sweden.

Www.unday.org 2015 is a collaboration between Sweden and Denmark and takes place right in the middle of/and is part of The International Peace Conference in Varberg.

The morse peace message was put together by a grade 8 class from Påskbergs skolan in Varberg, Sweden. The process started with talks from people who has experienced refugees situations first hand throughout the world, and an introduction to old and new digital technology by experts in the field.

The second part of this year's manifestation is short films made by grade 6 pupils from Denmark and Sweden. They were first introduced to each other over Skype. They then continued to, with the help and support by teachers and drama workshops, to invent stories based on the theme Conflicts. The stories became film-scripts and were exchanged between the countries. The pupils then made their interpretations of the scripts into short films. The result is the second part of the manifestation together with a peace song made by the school choir at Påskbergs skolan.

Welcome to our peace manifestation, made by children who want to send their visions of the future to the world!

About the project

Since 2011 the regional theatre Teater Halland and the World Heritage Grimeton Radio Station has manifested UN day with a global live event broadcasted over the Internet with school children as main actors. They create the content and make different forms of peace manifestations.

Every year it is children's rights and thoughts concerning a sustainable future that is in focus. At first sight it might be an odd collaboration by cultural institutions - a theater and a radio station... but there are at least two common factors! Both use communication and both have a pedagogical mission in society.
