Manifest the United Nations Day Oct. 24 2015 at UNday.org!

We will also broadcast on october 23 at 12:00 (CEST) to enable all pupils to watch it during school hours.

As a tradition lots of schools manifest the United Nations Day on October 24. Gathering around childrens' and human rights.

Now, your school can work outside the template and follow the global peace manifestation created by children i Denmark and Sweden "live"!

Visit www.unday.org!

Swedish pupils collaborates with danish pupils.

In a live broadcast pupils from Påskberskolan in Varberg, Sweden in collaboration with pupils from Mejrup Skole in Holstebro, Denmark will present their messages about peace, sustainability and children's and humans rights to the world, including politicians and policy makers. They will do this via the World Heritage Grimeton Radio Station with the help of Halland's Reginal Theatre, Sweden.

www.unday.org 2015 is a collaboration between Sweden and Denmark and takes place right in the middle of/and is part of The International Peace Conference in Varberg.

The morse code message of peace was put together by a grade 8 class from Påskberskolan in Varberg, Sweden. The process started with talks from people who has experienced refugees situations first hand throughout the world, and an introduction to old and new digital technology by experts in the field.

The second part of this year's manifestation is short films made by grade 6 pupils from Denmark and Sweden. They were first introduced to each other over Skype. They then continued to, with the help and support by teachers and drama workshops, to invent stories based on the theme Conflicts. The stories became film-scripts and were exchanged between the countries. The pupils then made their interpretations of the scripts into short films. The result is the second part of the manifestation together with a peace song made by the school choir at Påskbergskolan.

Welcome to our peace manifestation, made by children who want to send their visions of the future to the world!

TEATER HALLAND

Are you and your class in the UNday next year?
On October 24 2016? Visit www.unday.org

Since 2011 the regional theatre Teater Halland and the World Heritage Grimeton Radio Station has manifested UN day with a global live event broadcasted over the Internet with school children as main actors. They create the content and make different forms of peace manifestations.

Every year it is children's rights and thoughts concerning a sustainable future that is in focus. At first sight it might be an odd collaboration by cultural institutions - a theater and a radio station... but there are at least two common factors! Both use communication and both have a pedagogical mission in society.

UNESCO, United nations organization for international collaboration concerning education, science and culture, sees the World Heritage Grimeton Radio Station as a remarkable example of human ability to create the first wireless communication between two continents of the world. The world heritage uses radio technique developed during the first world war! Every year children prepare peace messages to be sent from Grimeton, a UNESCO symbol of world wide communication!

Within the world of theatres new ways of communication is always searched for. Beside the traditional stage language, verbal as well as non-verbal, modern technique opens up to new ways of expression. With support and inspiration from the pedagogs at the theatre school, children are helped in expressing themselves about peace and future also in digital forms. Through the challenge to create non-verbal messages this UNday.org project seeks to bridge language barriers. The messages is presented "live" through this world wide live broadcast over the Internet!

An important part of this project is that pupils and schools possess a better technique now than when the first men landed on the moon in 1969. Through the digital technique the children have got the tools to reach the whole world!

The project Unday.org focus on global thinking and the use of modern IT for peace and sustainability purposes. It is possible for everyone to create and send peace messages world wide. To the leaders and policy makers of the world, to municipality representatives, to idols and even students in other parts of the world!

Join UNday.org and contribute to a more peaceful world through thinking, creating and communicating globally.
